It's great to see the Queen of Boho, Sienna Miller, back on the scene looking as gorgeous as ever. Short or long-haired, this natural beauty never seems to get it wrong. It's no surprise she holds the title of one of Vogue's best dressed celebs, for her individual style. She always looks youthful with her fresh-faced approach to make-up, sometimes wearing nothing more than mascara, bronzer and neutral lippie. She uses make-up to enhance her features, keeping it minimal. This is a perfect look for spring/summer as this season make-up is all about real beauty. It's more about glowing skin and looking naturally healthy, so start by evening out your skin tone and illuminate your complexion with this skin-brightening foundation (2). It gives good coverage and leaves skin with a healthy glow. I love a luminous finish, but in the right places. Sweep the loose finishing powder (4) over the foundation using the fluffy brush that's included, to minimise shine. Next, groom your brows, then define your eyes by applying the brown kohl pencil (5) along your lash line and blend to soften. Less is more with this look. Now focus on the lashes. Lengthen and lift with this unique mascara wand (3). The fine-toothed, curved comb catches even the tiniest lashes, instantly opening the eyes. Sweep the peachy-pink blush over your cheek bones (1), mixing the two shades together for a sheer, light-reflecting hue. To finish, generously apply the lip plumper (6) and your pout will instantly feel and look fuller. The warm tingly sensation means it's working!
